

Covid-19 Living History Journal

March 29, 2020

I have spent the last week (spring break) with my sisters' family, and my parents. It was a very stressful week, I have several medical conditions that put me in the high risk category to get Covid-19. It felt like my family was not taking this virus seriously, they continued to go out in public frequently. Frequently meaning that my dad went out to stores for non-important items multiple times a day, my sister went to the grocery store every other day (rather than stock up and go once a week). My sister and parents live in a county in Oregon that have several cases of Covid-19. I am happy to be back in Curry County, which currently has no cases of Covid-19, I feel safe. I miss my students and wish that I could see them everyday.

Today we (the Middle School teachers) had our second Zoom meeting. We are trying to find the best way to continue to teach our students from a distance. Last week we had our first Zoom meeting, and decided to start calling students as soon as possible. We have contacted most of our students, for a very few students we do not have an email address or a good phone number. Still struggling to contact and survey students.

Today, we had an all Riley Creek teacher Zoom meeting, it was awesome seeing everyone! I went in to school after the meeting, there were not many teachers at school, we are still under Governor Brown's "Stay home, Stay Safe" order. I was able to make copies and scan work for my students to upload to my Weebly website.
